MILL OF BACK CREEK LUMBER COMPANY IS DESTROYED BY FIRE

The early Saturday morning destruction of the Back Creek Lumber Company mill, situated on the Back Creek, near the town of Perryopolis, was a great loss to the community. The mill, which had been operating for many years, was completely destroyed by a fire that broke out in the early morning hours. The fire started in the basement of the mill and spread rapidly, consuming the entire structure. The loss to the community is estimated at $55,000.

MACHINERY OF COAL CONTROL PUT INTO GEAR

Active Functioning to Maintain Supply Where Needed Begins.

STATES REPORTED READY

WASHINGTON, July 11.—The government machinery of emergency distribution of coal was set into active functioning today as the coal control administration began its work. The administration, which was established by the War Relocation Authority, is now in a position to handle any emergency situation that may arise. The states have also reported that they are ready to assist in the distribution of coal.

LIKE IT KNITTED

Craze Exists for Dresses, Suits, Blouses and Sweaters.

Sport Clothes Play Important Part. Two-Piece Suits Are Given Decided Preference.

Women ever have been accused of fickleness, especially in the fancies that they take for certain types of dress. Very likely, observes a correspondent in the New York Tribune, if we took the trouble to investigate what lies behind fashions, we would find women less fickle in this respect than mere man supposes—for it is man who always accuses us of this. This leads up to the costume of knitted materials, for which a veritable craze has developed. They won't last long was the prediction of many people when knitted dresses, suits, blouses and sweaters appeared in such profusion in the latter part of the winter, but the fashion has endured and will continue to endure for a long, long time because of the ability of a group of people to lift this type of costume entirely out of the humdrum category of the merely practical and not at all beautiful outdoor costume. They have done it by combining beautiful colors, by broadening knitted wool materials in patterns of silk in both contrasting and harmonizing shades and also through the introduction of wonderful embroideries on knitted fabrics. Consequently, we find ourselves in the midst of a season where pastime clothes play a more important part than ever before in the history of fashion. Two-piece suits of knitted materials are preferred by the conservative woman. These consist either of a skirt and coat or a skirt and overblouse, the latter in Russian blouse style. Attractive sweaters come in slightly blousing form are developed in silk and wool.

BLOUSES OF LINEN REAPPEAR

Different Weights and Varied Manipulations Characterize Some of the Favored Garments.

Linen has cut more of a figure in blouses this season than it has for several seasons, reappearing in different weights and different manipulations. At one big city store this fabric, in a medium soft weave, has been chosen for the development of a new series of overblouses to which is given the name Bretella.

The models are supposed to fill the need for a waistcoat or jacket, but built on simple, long-waisted lines, instead of clef after the manner of a man's belt. They come, therefore, with sleeves and without, but with the sleeves more in the majority.

A feature is made of wide box platts, the whole blouse being constructed in a tailored manner, hanging straight from the shoulders and finished with a three or four-inch band. This treatment has come to be known as a Renee idea, with the band fastened to one side of the front in such a manner that it lends itself to adjustment.

There is some use of hand-drawn work in addition to the more severely box play fronted effects, and it comes in several different collar shapes, but nearly always swung high. The color range includes orchid, blue, rose and green. The styles are also made up in white, these introducing color in collar bindings and pipings.

Jewelry Fads.

Black and white is again the high mark of fashion for jewelry. With the summer sleeveless gown the wide jet bracelet is to be used with its sparkling crest of brilliants. Jet daggers, long and of romantically Bedouin aspect, are used to slash through a fold of silk and give an air to the exact front of a high little turban. Black and white brooches and black and white combs for the evening coiffure are in favor with black and white little finger rings.

NOT VERY.

PROPOSITIONS OF BALTO. & OHIO R. R. TO SHOP EMPLOYEES

Full Text of Vice President Galloway's Statement
After Conference.

POSITION MADE PLAIN

Following the rejection of the offer of the Baltimore & Ohio to negotiate a separate settlement of the strike issues with its own employees, Vice President Galloway, who had proposed the conference issued a statement early Saturday morning. The full text follows:

"The Baltimore & Ohio management met the committee representing the Federated Shop Crafts on the Baltimore & Ohio railroad in conference on Tuesday, July 25, and again on Wednesday, July 26.

"The meeting on Tuesday was devoted to a general discussion of all the questions involved.

"At the meeting on Wednesday the committee assured us that they had authority to order the men on the Baltimore & Ohio back to work, provided a proposition satisfactory to them was submitted, and at their request for a specific answer to the following memorandum was handed propositions by them, the to them.

"Memorandum—Taking up the questions in the order in which they were discussed yesterday, and in reply to your request for some definite expression from the Baltimore & Ohio management on the particular points raised by your committee, you are advised as follows:

"First—Request for national board of adjustment—You are reminded that the question of national board of adjustment was not a factor in the issuance of the strike order, and has only been injected into the question since the strike occurred; consequently it is hardly a proper matter for negotiation in connection with reaching an understanding that would result in the resumption of service. However, as pointed out to your committee it is our belief that a national board of adjustment is necessary and would not correct the conditions of which you complain for the reasons which I endeavored to specify last night. The Baltimore & Ohio is willing, however, to set up a board of adjustment or reviewing board for the Baltimore & Ohio system, to be composed of its own employees and representatives of the management, believing that this direct adjustment of any differences that might arise and which could properly be referred to such a board, or if the employees are unwilling to have an individual board of adjustment, then the Baltimore & Ohio is willing to join with other companies in the eastern region in the establishment of a regional board of adjustment on a basis similar to that providing the train service board of adjustment if the eastern railroads composing that board.

"Second—Request for restoration of overtime rules in existence prior to July 1st.

"Third—Request to restore the wages in effect prior to July 1st.

"With the understanding that if men now on strike will promptly report for service under the rules and working conditions as now provided by the United States Railroad Labor Board, and which will remain in effect until or unless changed by a labor board or by mutual agreement between the company and the men, the Baltimore & Ohio is willing to join in a conference with representatives of its employees to discuss these questions and failing to reach an understanding, join in submission of the question to the labor board for their consideration in accordance with the terms of the Transportation Act.

"Fourth—Request that seniority be restored to the men who have left the service.

"The men who withdrew from the service of the Baltimore & Ohio at 10 o'clock A. M., July 1, and those who have left since and who have not returned and who have not in the meantime committed any overt acts against the law of the land, will be taken back at the rate of pay and under the rules now in effect for their respective crafts. The question of wages and rules to be taken up for discussion in the manner outlined above.

"Men who through pernicious activities, or by the commission of overt acts during the period of this strike, have made themselves objectionable, will have charges preferred against them and be given a trial in accordance with the disciplinary rules of the shop crafts.

"It is not the purpose of the Baltimore & Ohio company to ignore the loyalty of those who have continued in its service, or the rights of those who have entered the service since the strike was called, and it is fair to state that the position of your organizations, as has been expressed, is that the men who have left the service are not employees of the railroad and therefore are outside the jurisdiction of the labor board. Aside from any other commitments, or assurances to the employees who have remained in the service under the recognized right to work, the matter of seniority does not present an insurmountable situation, but as pointed out to you in our conference, it is one that can be very readily adjusted to the mutual satisfaction of all concerned and without surrender of principle on the part of either, and is one that will be given prompt consideration by the officers of the Baltimore & Ohio company, and an earnest effort made to adjust all matters of that character on the basis of equity and fairness, and in a manner that we firmly believe will ultimately prove satisfactory to both sides and be looked upon as fair and decent by every interest.

"If at the end of 30 days any individual cases have not been adjusted in a manner that would be considered satisfactory to employees, we are willing to have such cases submitted for decision to a committee to be selected, upon which the company and the men will have equal representation.

"We desire to emphasize the fact that the question of rates of pay and rules and working conditions suggested in the (reprint of this memorandum, is granted in accordance with the provisions of the Transportation Act, whereas the question in dispute, to that of seniority, is not under the Baltimore & Ohio is concerned, and on that question we have pointed out how it may be dropped or in a fair and honorable manner.

"While much has been said in objection to the leasing of engine and shop facilities to outside contractors, this has not been in question on the Baltimore & Ohio, but in order to make the matter clear to its employees, the Baltimore & Ohio company is willing to refrain from such action so long as the employees affected are willing to accept the wages and abide by the working conditions prescribed by the labor board, or mutually agreed to in conference with the company.

"In concluding this memorandum, let me again remind you of the fact that the relations between the Baltimore & Ohio and its employees have for many years been pleasant, and I am hopeful that in considering this question, due consideration will be given to this and employees will see the reasonableness of the opportunity to resume service.

"Conference with the committee was resumed this afternoon, when they advised us that our proposition was declined which terminates all negotiations, and our proposal is consequently withdrawn. Of course, I regret the failure of these negotiations, being hopeful that the Baltimore & Ohio, first by seeking conference and then offering basis for negotiating, a settlement which we believe to be fair and equitable to all parties under the circumstances, would indicate to the men the sincerity of purpose on our part that would justify acceptance of our terms, at least as basis for discussion, but now that the negotiations have failed, the Baltimore & Ohio will continue vigorously to hold up its forces with a view to restoring normal conditions as early as possible."

B. & O. Finally Wins

Series From West Penn

Railroaders Get Hits When Needed; Lohr Is Invaluable.

FOUR GAMES NECESSARY

"Charlie" Lohr star twirler of the Baltimore & Ohio ball team, pitched a wonderful game against the West Penn outfit Saturday afternoon on Fayette field defeating it by the score of 5-1. Time and again the West Penn team would place men on second and third bases and would only have one man out, but that would be as far as they could get Lohr, lightening up and preventing runs.

The two teams had each won a game, both victories being shut-outs Thursday they played a third game but when it was called on account of darkness the score stood 2-2.

Assistant Chief of Police Rull had a little hearing yesterday afternoon when six boys were taken to the police station on the charge of playing baseball on Sunday. Rull released the boys after they promised they would not play ball on Sunday again.

The West Penn Minors baseball team won two games yesterday afternoon making it their 10th and 11th straight win defeating Brookvale in the first game by the score of 9-7, and the Erie Avenue team by the score of 27-13.

Animals Glad to Come To Connellsville

Even the members of the various simian families with the A. G. Barnes Big Four-Ring Wild Animal Circus which comes to Connellsville tomorrow, are all wrought up over the fact that the railroad strike and consequent embargoes and priority rulings governing the movement of freight have made such sudden changes necessary in the itinerary of the big organization of which they are members.

They complain that their friends in the Bronx Zoo and elsewhere may have written them to some of the towns which the show was compelled to cancel, and are here shown writing the postmasters at the various towns canceled asking that their mail be forwarded.

Two species of the anthropoid ape family are represented in this picture. The one wearing a "Nagie" an orange-outing, and the one over-seeing the job is "Jiggs," a Chimpanzee. The Barnes circus has claim to having the most diversified and costly zoological collection in the world and without doubt has more trained wild animals than all the other shows in America combined. Each and every animal in the collection from mighty "Turko" the biggest elephant in captivity, down to "Hugs" takes an active part in the performance.

BOYS DEMAND BETTER BOOKS

Youngsters Not Content These Days With Anything Dressed by Old-School Writers.

A Chicago librarian has made the discovery that boys are quitting the so-called "boy fiction" for reading of a different kind. They will read fiction, to be sure, but it is not their chief reading matter. The fiction they read that provided by the old-school writers of boys' books, who had the notion that the youthful masculine mind required and demanded a specially prepared and specially flavored food.

The boys of today according to this finding, are calling for the biographies of Lincoln, Roosevelt and Edison. They are reading Christy Mathewson's "Book of Sports," the "Boys' Book of Mounted Police," the "Boys' Book of Home Science and Construction" and books on camping and woodcraft.

When they go in for fiction they read Mark Twain Scott Dumas Stevenson Jules Verne and Kipling. They do not read Henry and Oliver Optic.

The only thing at all curious about this is that it should ever have been believed that boys had standardized minds capable of taking anything but spoon food. Boys want first of all the genuine, and it would be strange if they didn't learn where to find it. A boy who has heard of Roosevelt's life in the West is not likely to be content thereafter with the pretended adventures of the old make-believe heroes, whose authors turned out their efforts in New York boarding houses. A boy who has read "Treasure Island" and "Kidnapped" will have learned too for Nick Carter—Kansas

REVENGE VERY SWEET TO CAST-OFF PLAYER

Released Ball Stars Come Back for Vindication.

Urban Shocker of St. Louis Browns Known as Nomads of New York Yankees—Johnston Gets Even With the Indians.

Revenge tastes fairly sweet under ordinary circumstances but there must be a fierce joy in the public revenge of a cast-off ball player.

The Yankees hooked Urban Shocker to the Browns in 1918 and ever since then Shocker has been known as the nomads of the Yankees. His chief solace is to pitch to Babe Ruth at the Polo grounds where all New York may see scolding the intentional pass because he seems to know that he has more "on" the team than any other pitcher in the league.

The Indians got rid of Doc Johnston because he was too old for a club with the championship idea. And when the Athletics recently snatched the Indians pitchers for 20 hits and 22 extra bases which equaled the major league record Doc Johnston took a merry part in the pasting with a pair of triples and a brace of singles in five trips.

Fred Pratt went to the Red Sox on one of the numerous house deals between the Red Sox and the Yankees. He lost a piece of world a series money by that move and therefore his aim was something awful when he bunched a homer into the stands at the Polo grounds this spring, defeating the champions.

John McGraw got angry at Phil Douglas and his Barnes last winter and announced that any club in the league could have either or both for a very moderate price and the customary trade discount for cash. In their spring stands around the East the Giants would have been better several times but for the same Douglas and the very identical Jess Barnes.

And eventually it was no less than Barnes in person who pitched that no-hit no-run game against the Phils having only 27 batters and permitting just one man to arrive at first.

That was a dramatic revenge for Jess.

At the Theatres

THE SOISSON.

"LOVE'S REDEMPTION" the feature picture today and tomorrow is a First National production with Norma Lombardi in the stellar role.

The plot deals with Jeanne Doherty, nicknamed Ginger, the orphaned daughter of a Spanish opera singer and an English gentleman of fortune.

In the end, where the action takes place Ginger is accepted as a girl of sweet charm and unusually keen intelligence with a remarkable faculty for handling the natives on the islands.

Among the outside Englishmen on the island is Clifford Standish who excites the result of some youthful escapade. In the midst of mad sharp sentences in time and red liquor Standish's estate is running a ruin and his soul is disintegrating.

Ginger makes up her mind to redeem the ruin and the only road to it is through a girl who goes out in the conclusion of a colonial romance in the final reels of the picture.

Harmon Ford plays the leading male role opposite the star.

THE ORPHAN.

"SOWING THE WIND" with Anita Stewart in the leading role is a First National picture and is the attraction today tomorrow and Wednesday at the theatre.

In "Sowing the Wind" in unusual story is unfolded a story of a young convert girl who goes out in the bleak world only to discover that her mother's life keeps a notorious gambling house. Her struggles to get away from the possibility of emulating her mother her subsequent meeting with the man she loves and finally the locating of her father combine to make a story of unusual thrills. The romance is of the most exciting variety. A cast of unusual importance supports Miss Stewart. Ralph Lewis, June Morrison, Myrtle Stedman and William H. Mong are especially worthy of commendation for their finished performance in this meritorious picture. The management does not hesitate to accommodate "Sowing the Wind" as one of the season's best photoplays.

THE PARAMOUNT.

"HOME TALES" — Now showing at this theatre is a five-reel part Mark Twain comedy. In a plot of unusual comedy the plot opens introducing a quartet of stars and a devilish plot to ruin a country hotel where the mother-in-law and her daughter live. They owe the landlord (Charles Murray) too much money. The four fortunes are stranded on the shores of the three-day arc. On the plot line Philson holds a ribbon and the Philson "Bleed" sets in a series of years behind time almost in old as their beard blit and the exhibition of their stunts supplies much of the comic and ingenious comedy. After a hilarious quarrel between the two teams a reconciliation is effected and they decide under Ben Jerpa's leadership to pool their talents and put on a great show. At once they enter into rehearsals, calling in the help of the hotel maids (Lucky and Phillis Haver) who, it turns out, is more beautiful than she looks in her sultry clothes. Wednesday and Thursday The Polish Matrons will be shown.

THE spirit of this institution is one of cordiality and good service.

It always has the time and disposition to be obliging and thoughtful of your interests.

WHITE HAS CALL FOR THE SEASONVogue for the Color Is More Pronounced Than Ever Before; It Is a Fad.FOR GOWNS, COATS AND HATSSnowy Attire Is in Evidence With All Kinds of Women's Wear—Fashion Draws the O. K. of Paris Society.Every one has a natural tendency toward white when summer comes on.
But the vogue, asserts a fashion writer in the New York Times, for light color this year is much more than a natural tendency. It is a passion. It is a fad. It is a necessity, indeed, if you wish to be classed at all in the circles of smartly dressed women. And who does not, pray tell?This summer the evening dresses are white, the afternoon dresses are white, the morning dresses are white, the suits are white, the coats are white, the capes are white. There is no article of attire that escaped the general mode. And really there are more stunning things being done in white than have been made in all the other colors put together.Travelers returning from Paris bring back the news that everything is white there, too. One society woman drew from her trunk of Parisian clothes no less than four dresses of all white. "Well," she said, "what else could I do? They had nothing but white, and the French designers were out to despise you if you dared to choose anything else in the way of color."When you are stricken with the pervading tendency of white you will find all sorts of compensation, for there are beautiful things to be had in that medium. And, it seems, that the color, if it may be called a color, has stepped away from the field of suitability only for certain types. Indeed, there is about it an adaptability to all types of which you would hardly have suspected it.The Color Problem.
There is much value in the way that white is handled and the question is whether to relieve it with a touch of black or color or whether to leave it with nothing but its own blank surface to make it notable. Then there is the problem of the quality of mate-White Suit of Homespun, Marmot Trimming on Collar and Cuffs.And, for there is all the difference in the world between the thick, woolly white and the thin, silky white. One type can stand one and another type looks well in nothing but the other. It is on this ground that you must make your decision, and to that end it is necessary to study yourself from an entirely new angle and learn just what you can stand in the way of white and just what will throw you into the background, as it were.An evening dress of white which, though this particular model came from Paris, illustrates a fashion which is most successful and popular right here. It is made of white moire and this particular model has its edges and its bouffant side drapery faced with cloth of silver. There are a stiffness and a pertness about the draping of this heavy silk which are entirely new and which have reached a rare degree of smartness. And when it is done in white it is most particularly effective. One cannot make a mistake by choosing a dress of this character.
And, if one should live to regret the day of purchase, there is always the dye shop, which will transform it for you in the twinkling of an eye, or perhaps it would be more accurate to say, at the end of six weeks.The Thing of the Moment.
The white suit has reached the same of its expression and, for city or country wear, it is the thing of the moment. The thrilling thing is to see how many different styles are applicable to white and how many varying materials adapt themselves to the new idea. There is one for instance, an outfit made of a white homespun woolen material with the roughest sort of surface. Then the trimming is done with bands of maroon fur, making a delicious contrast and a most effective spotting of decoration.The coat of this suit is one of the newer ones with its bloused long waist and its open sleeves. Nothing about its line is exaggerated, and yet it conforms entirely to all the demands of the new silhouette. You will find that, more and more, suits will be made with coats or jackets cut after this style and the women will be liking to wear them for the reason that they indicate so pleasantly all of the smartest lines established by the fashion of the season.The suit worn with this suit is made of a soft white felt that is so shaped that it does picturesquely about the face. Then it is trimmed with a thick roll of dull brown velvet that shines in with the color in the suit's trimming of fur.All Sorts of White Suits There are all sorts of white suits to be found in the shops, and many of them carry a large dose of smartness. There are those made of jersey, those constructed out of the heavier varieties of white silk, those made from tweeds and twills and flannels.
Then there are other white suits made after the popular idea of a combination of materials. Then there will be a homespun jacket, for example, and that will be worn with a plaid silk skirt. Or you will find a white flannel sleeveless jacket combined with a one-piece silk dress made from that crisp variety of shimmering silk that makes such interesting summer frocks. Again, there will be a flannel skirt and a silk coat. The fact is that there is no end to the combinations which have been achieved by using white materials with a view to making smart-looking summer costumes. We have broken away entirely from the old conception of girlish, youthful white and we have come to using it in a much more mature manner with very much more background to make it notable.There are myriads of examples dresses made in white. Especially the thin ones are good and, as the season advances, surely more and more of them will be seen. The one we are describing made of heavy white linen with rolling revers collars and large pearl buttons to set off the smartnessCharming White Moire Evening Dress Faced With Silver Clothof their faces. There are others made of this same material which are supplemented by soft little collars of tucked organza and net, with filled and lace trimmings kept always very narrow and unpretentious in style.
Sometimes there will be a little color introduced into the belt, though not always. There are dashing little red patent leather belts and black ones that are very interesting. And then there are narrow girlish made of fascinating combinations of cool shelles with colorful gossamer ribbons crangthrough them. They make a jangling sort of waistline string which, at the present moment, is extremely smart and good looking—especially so when it is worn in a brilliant hue along with a tailored white dress.Oiling to Fluffy Ruffles.
Then there are the white frocks which in no way pretend to be tal-lored but which cling decoratively to the old-fashioned lines of girly frocks.
But they are a new sort of ruffle.
They are narrow and plaited and massed together, making a most effect of fullness rather than a careless sort, if you understand the distinction.
The ruffles that are coming from Paris are leveler than they ever have been. For they are made of new plane engines, according to official figures last made public in Berlin.upon charm. There is one which has a rather narrow skirt for its foundation, but the nature of the materials keeps it held out in a stiffness that can only be had by using organza.
Then the skirt is trimmed with seven rows of tiny rills in groups of three.
Not only that, but the rills are made by shaping them into petals that run along one right after the other. Above the groups of ruffling there are groups of handmade tucks, of course.
Then on the bodice the same idea of trimming is carried out and the armholes are left plain with no sleeves to carry on their interests.HAS RARE MONEYBanker Owns Samples of "Wildcat" Currency.A. P. Robinson, a banker of Stratford, S. D., has a rare collection of old state currency of the time of Zachary Taylor's administration, dating all the way from 1810 to 1860.The bills are of $5, $2 and $10 denominations and are relics of the days when banks issued their own currency.These bank notes were driven out of existence by an act of congress passed March 3, 1865, which taxed the circulation of state banks at 10 per cent.This was done after the national banking system, which was organized in 1863, was in full operation. In order to force the state banks to buy government bonds, become national banks and use national money.Robinson also is the owner of a patent (4416) for land in the Green Bay (Wis.) district, this old patent bearing date of 1810.Four Animals Increase in Kentucky.
Endangered animals are on the increase in Kentucky as a result of the protection afforded by the state game law. The raccoon, opossum, milk weasel, otter and muskrat are reported in larger numbers by trappers who in the open season collect the skins in paying quantities. Until adequate protection was afforded by the drastic game law some of the species had almost disappeared from Kentucky, but under the new law the stock seems to have been appreciably replenished all over the state.The beaver still is found in some sections of the state and only recently a large colony was discovered in a western county, where the animals had dammed a creek."Hopeless." She can do about as she pleases, this little mite of six summers. While her Aunt Ellen heartily disapproves of such "goings on" and never fails to give some well-meant advice, even she cannot always suppress a smile.
The assertive young person was playing her mother's expensive victrola and as the golden notes of Miss Gall-Chure's voice poured forth in her famous "Dinorah" record, remarked: "Say, Aunt Ellen, how can she sing like that?" Aunt Ellen thought this a fitting occasion on which to appeal to the child's better nature and told her that God had bestowed this great gift upon the singer at birth, under the tutelage of famous masters, it had been brought to its present power. Expecting some sweet childish response, she was completely taken off her guard at hearing her young relative exclaim: "Gee, God gave me some daisy voice!"Beeslee.
Liquor, shipped to foreign countries for storage on the eve of national prohibition, is gradually being brought back, some by smugglers, some through legitimate channels. The total of this liquor is worth $300,000,000 in the legitimate market, $1,000,000, 000 if handled by bootleggers, says John D. Appleby, general prohibition agent in the New York and New Jersey district. At this rate, the bootlegging system takes 2 1/3 per cent profits for the risk it runs. His reduces bootlegging to a mathematical basis, operating on the law of access.Marita.
If you are holding a basket of German marks the news from Berlin is sad. In the last week of March, Germany added 8,000,000,000 marks to its paper currency in circulation. This sort of inflation is the reason why German commodities prices are an average of 20 per cent in March.
When prices are low money is hard to get. When money is plentiful prices are high. The system is unending and going. It is a gambling game, with a permanent element only for the gentleman who sets it away while the sailing is good.In Questionable Society.

Second Guest—Yes, and besides that, they borrowed them from me.Enriching His Business.

Second Beggar—Yes; you see, I've Marshal Foch Says If General Was Traitor He Would Have Had More of Them.It is hardly to be wondered at that the greatest soldier of the Twentieth century should take occasion to pay his tribute of admiration and affection to the memory of one of the really great commanders of modern times, a soldier whose military genius was equaled only by the purity of his purpose and the splendor of his character, says the Louisville Courier-Journal.Soldier-like, Marshal Foch employs few words in answering the anonymous "American Patriot" who had telegraphed him at a Virginia town that Robert E. Lee was a traitor.

"If Gen. Robert E. Lee was a traitor," said the marshal of France, "Napoleon Bonaparte was a coward. If General Lee was a traitor, I wish France had more of them. He was one of the greatest military leaders the world has ever known."In winning the World war, Persia and Foch leaned heavily upon the shoulder of Robert E. Lee. It was the sword of Lee that flashed on every battlefield in France from the first battle of the Marne to Armistice day.Lee's strategy, revived and employed first by Joffre and later by Foch, held the Hun along the French front, swift to attack and slow to retreat, until at length the Hindenburg line was pierced and the enemies of civilization sued for peace.In his estimate of Lee Marshal Foch takes his stand beside Viscount Wolsey, of England, who declared that Lee was "the greatest soldier given to the world since the days of Maurthurgh."Children Found Starving Under Straw.

tually without food, six children were youngest child was fifteen months old and the oldest nine years. Charges a neglect have been filed against the mother.Spider Bite Causes Death of Boy.

eer, is spending a two weeks' vacation in Canada.

The Y. M. C. A. Stars play the last evening game at Dverson Saturday.

Route Report.

WHITE HAVEN, July 21.—Bass are eating thousands of young trout that were planted in the spring by the State.
Fishermen sport since the opening of the bass season. "Wise" say that generally they find trout in the stomachs of bass and this is given as one reason for the great scarcity of trout despite efforts of the state and local game associations to stock the river and creek. Extensive planting of bass also has been in progress.

TRAPPING SUNLIGHT TO MAKE SYNTHETIC FOODS

Experiments Going on in This Direction Are Causing Keen Interest in Scientific World.

Trapping the energy of sunlight to make synthetic foods is one of the most important scientific researches at present going on in this direction. The process is known as photo-synthesis. It is the process by which plants, using sunlight, carbon dioxide and water, produce food. The process is being studied in the laboratory, and it is hoped that it will be possible to produce synthetic foods in the future. This would be a great boon to the world, as it would eliminate the need for land and labor in the production of food.

NOTE IN BOTTLE ON ICE

Placed on Iceberg 60 Years Ago, Mes- sage Just Comes to Light.

In 1862, on an iceberg, in the coast of Franz Joseph Land, in Arctic seas, a party of men, who were on a journey to the North Pole, found a bottle containing a message in two languages, English and German. The message was dated 1862, and it was from a party of men who were on a journey to the North Pole. party perished news of their fate might possibly reach Alaska. The bottle was found last year on the coast of Nova Zembla by a Norwegian exploring party and has now been sent to the president of the Austrian Geo- graphical Society.

Only one member of the party re- mained alive. A man named Broch, who resides at Graz, Austria, states that the command of the officers made four copies of the letter which were each placed in a separate bottle, and on dif- ferent bergs. The only bottle which hap- pened to be the one with an entirely legi- ble message.

MISS LULU BETT

by Zona GaleIllustrations by Irwin Myers

A few evenings later Cornish brought up the music. There was something overpowering in this brown-haired chap against the background of his negligible little shop his whole capital in his few plans. For he looked hopefully ahead, woke with plans regarding the children in the street as if, conceivably, children might come with in the confines of his life as he imagined it. A preposterous little man. And a preposterous store empty echoing bare of wall the three planes near the front the remainder of the floor stretching away like the corridors of the lost. He was going to get a dark curtain he explained and furnish the back part of the store as his own room. That dignity a phrasing but how rich that little room would look—cot bed washbowl and pitcher and little mirror—almost certainly a mirror with a wavy surface, almost certainly that.

"And then you know he always said 'I'm reading law'."

The Plovs had been asked in that evening Bobby was there. But were Dwight Herbert said going to have a sing.

Di was to play. And Di was now embarked on the most difficult part of her emotional life the feat of retaining to Bobby Larklin the lure the beloved lure the while to Cornish she instinctively played the role of womanly little girl.

Up by the festive lamp everybody Dwight Herbert cried.

As they gathered about the upright piano, that staid Dwight Herbert instrument standing in its attitude of unrest, Lulu came in with another lamp.

Do you need that? she asked.

They did not need it there was in fact no place to set it and the Lulu must have known. But Dwight found a place. He swept Ninian's photograph from the table shelf of the mirror, and when Lulu had placed the lamp there, Dwight thrust the photograph in her hands.

You take care of that, he said with a drop of his discernible only to those who—presumably—loved him. His old attitude toward Lulu had shown a terrible sharpening in these ten days since her return.

She stood uncertainly in the thin black and white gown which Ninian had bought for her and held Ninian's photograph and looked repeatedly about. She was moving toward the door when Cornish called.

"See here. Aren't you going to sing?"

"What?" Dwight used the fustian.

"Lulu sing." Lulu.

She stood awkwardly. She had a piteous recollection of her all agony at being spoken to in the presence of others. But Di had opened the 'Album of Old Favorites' which Cornish had elected to bring and now she struck the opening chords of "Bentley Breeze." Lulu set a small looking rather piteously at Cornish.

Dwight offered his arm. He crooked The Plovs and Ina and Di began to sing. Lulu moved forward and stood a little away from them and sang too. She was still holding Ninian's picture. Dwight did not sing. He lifted his shoulders and his eyes and watched Lulu.

HAS ACUTE CASE OF "LOVEITIS"

Canadian Girl Pursues American Man to Throw Herself at His Feet.

HE DOESN'T WANT HER

Philadelphia, Who First Met Girl on Pacific, Has Invoked Aid of Government in Dodging His Admirer.

Toronto Can.—Miss Beatrice Herbert of this city, suffering from an acute case of "loveitis" is pursuing William Zinsor of Philadelphia from one end of the earth to the other in a vain effort

Sat Waiting for Him on the Steps of His Home to break down the barrier he has placed between them and win him for her own. William, on the other hand, doesn't want her and is doing everything possible to keep out of her sight.

Beatrice has toiled down the fabled States government in feeling her way toward Zinsor. That man, that she has been kept from the United States after first being arrested and placed in a cell, but when she was released, she was told that Zinsor was only in the city for a few days and would be leaving soon.

Flow to Him Once

On one occasion, he paid in advance $100 to carry her across the Canadian border in order that she might join him in the home city of his birth. But the next time it was a different story.
She will come to him, she said, and she will stay with him for the rest of her life. She will be his wife, she said, and she will be his only wife.

The case of the Toronto girl is distinguished by its being the strangest in history. The girl, who is an unusually well educated and brilliant woman and in most respects has a splendid mind. She is a Canadian, and her name is Beatrice Herbert.

Other Hearts Are Here

Beatrice has pursued Zinsor across the Pacific, impetuously and under the glow of an oriental moon followed him about the streets of his native city forced her way into his office and sat waiting for him on the steps of his home. Apparently William would prefer to do his own chasing as Beatrice has found no favor in his eyes.

This novel romance, in which the girl is the only romantic one, began in the Pacific. The girl, who is a tourist agency woman, was sent to Japan and China. She met Zinsor on the line. She fell in love with him and she has been waiting for him ever since. She has been waiting for him in the most desperate manner.

A Logical Young Man Further south in the same and learned that he was being asked to marry. He was very much surprised and he was very much surprised.

William (gathered a moment and then poked. And he then put on a very silly face and he then put on a very silly face.

It's a pity that now I am sitting at fourteen. My life has been a very sad and here I am a grand old man at thirty.
